SENATE

WASHINGTON, February 1 — Senator McCreary, from the joint committee appointed to enquire into the expediency of transferring the Indian bureau from the interior to the war department, submitted a report signed by four members of the committee in favor of the immediate transfer Ordered printed

Senator Edmunds called up the senate bill to provide for ascertaining the sterling of private land claims in New Mexico, Wyoming Arizona, Utah, Nevada and Colorado The effect is to settle the title to the land derived from the Spanish and Mexican governments but it was discussed and finally laid over

Consideration was then resumed of the resolutions of Senator Hamlin declaring that duty of the 13th 14th and 15th amendments to the constitution, and of our obligations to the emancipated slaves, and of the guarantee of a republican form of government in favor of the immediate payment of the national debt

The vice president laid before the senate a communication from the secretary of war enclosing a letter from the chief of engineers respecting the plan of the national survey proposed by the national academy of sciences, transmitting a drawing to accompany the report of the board of officers on Pass improvement at South Pass Miss The letter of the commissary general of subsistence relative to the organization of a subsistence department as proposed by the bill to reorganize the army, and estimates of additional appropriations required for the war department all of which were referred He also laid before the senate a communication from the secretary of war enclosing a letter from the attorney general in relation to the extravagant damage award by local juries for damages by the Fox and Wisconsin river improvement act Referred

Senator Coke submitted amendments to the senate bill providing for the construction of a railroad from Galveston Texas, to a point on the Rio Grande opposite Camargo, Mexico Ordered printed and referred

Senator Bayard then took the floor but yielded to Senator Ransom for a motion of executive session

Senator Burnside introduced a bill for making an appropriation of $10 000 for military roads in Idaho Referred

The senate then went into executive session

HOUSE

WASHINGTON, February 1 — The debate threatened for the past few days has begun

Mr Chalmers in the opening speech suggested that the tendency to suspect other sections exhibited in the speech of Mr Bragg indicated generally a tendency to corruption in one's self. He hoped the south would be solid for the democratic party, but for that portion of it which had the courage and manliness to treat the people of the south as equals not as inferiors in the union

Senator Hoar, from the committee on privileges and elections, presented the minority report in favor of the 15th amendment to the constitution, prohibiting the disfranchising of persons on account of sex Ordered printed The report was signed by Senators Hoar, Cameron Wise and Mitchell

After several speeches, in the most part by Mississippi members, the debate terminated with morning hour The house then refused, 77 to 112, the consideration of the army reorganization bill, and went into committee on the army appropriation bill

Mr Hewitt, of N Y, having charge of the bill, explained its provisions It appropriates $20 747,300, against an estimate of $29 081 500 and the appropriation last year of $25 778,187 The reduction in the army appropriations in the last three years amounted to $8,000,000 They had been reduced $3 000 000, and if any saving was to be effected hereafter, it must be by the process of reorganization and reconstruction Reorganization could be made to secure more efficiency, with the annual saving of $8 000 000 [illegible] congress The first had been when the west had agreed to the settlement of the presidential difficulty and loyally fulfilled its engagement The second great question had been in regard to the army appropriation bills in which the cause known as the [illegible] clause had been inserted That bill differed from this because the house did not intend to yield to the demand of the people to the overthrow of the right of the people to the supervision of the army To give the president complete control over the army was [illegible] in contravention of the constitution During the extra session he had thought it would be a wise [illegible] to take away from the executive [illegible] the power to reduce the army [illegible] but the senate would not agree to it [illegible] Adjourned until Monday

GENERAL NEWS.

The Blodgett Investigation

CHICAGO Feb 1 — In the Blodgett inquiry Dr Hamlin, member of the late grand jury made the following extraordinary statement "I went on the grand jury with some reluctance and in an unpleasant frame of mind, because to the best of my knowledge and belief the grand jury was packed I got the information directly from a person whose case was to be examined before that grand jury that he was informed that he might present to the proper authorities five six or seven names of his personal friends to be placed upon that jury, of whom he informed me I was one Well the matter struck me very unpleasantly I consulted one of the ablest and at least legal gentlemen of the city a personal friend of thirty years standing whether under the circumstances it was proper for me to serve He asked me if the knowledge of the fact would affect my action I told him it would not and he advised me by all means then to serve After the grand jury was charged and assembled a number of days were devoted to investigating petty criminal cases, I mean by that indictments against men with no friends and without influence For instance I remember one case where a man had stolen had nickels, another case where a white man's negro mistress being turned adrift wrote him a scandalous postal card, and the poor woman was and cried for it, and such things The major part of the time was taken up with that class of things, which were brought before the grand jury by Judge Bangs, the district attorney. It began to be whispered about among the grand jury that the most serious criminal cases that had occurred in our midst were not to be investigated, that it was the determination of the court and its officers to prevent such an investigation Then the jury determined to [illegible] the imputation of cowardice themselves without waiting for the disclosures They sent [illegible] the alleged frauds in connection with the U S custom house, defalcations in the postoffice and he kept Hibbard in [illegible] They settled the witnesses and required the [illegible] to produce the papers. The result was the finding of indictments in every case It is understood that the person alluded to as having been authorized to select six of his personal friends for the grand jury was the prominent ex official concerned in the construction of the custom house building This testimony does not involve Judge Blodgett, as at the time the jury was empaneled he was [illegible] from the state The jury was drawn by the United States commissioner

President Hayes letter to Congress on the custom house appointments clearly defines the issue President Hayes wants to put the custom house on the same basis as the New York postoffice, of which Postmaster James says The postoffice is a business institution and should be run as such It is my deliberate judgment that I and my subordinates can do more for the party of our choice by giving the people of this city an efficient postal service than by controlling the primaries or dictating nominations' This is the whole gist of the matter Shall the New York custom house which collects two thirds of the revenue of the government be conducted as a business institution in the interest of the government or as a political machine in the interest of Roscoe Conkling. Monday's vote will decide

NOTES FROM THE CAPITAL

DENVER Jan 31 1879

Both houses are now hard at work holding three sessions daily It takes so long to get the business in shape that the legislature is hardly fairly at work before it is time to adjourn Up to this noon but six of the 349 bills had passed and only seven working days remain for the consideration of the others Still the most important bills will be considered and acted upon There is one good sign in the legislature The members are stingy about appropriations Though this may cause neglect of really good objects yet it will save the state considerable useless expenditure

This was especially shown in the house on Thursday when the bill appropriating $5 500 for the Deaf Mute Institute was before the committee of the whole Representative Toll made a strong speech against the appropriation on the ground that the state was too poor to provide for such institutions. This speech made a great impression and would have defeated the bill had not the majority been convinced of the beneficent results of that which would follow from it One gentleman stated that he would prefer to see any other appropriation bill defeated than this The bill has now passed the house and will go through the senate without difficulty

The bill changing the judicial districts is now a law and in active operation The pressure brought to bear on the governor to veto the bill was mainly from democratic sources As the bill passed the senate unanimously and the house by a vote of 39 to 4 Governor Pitkin did not feel justified in attempting to thwart the will

The civil damage act was considered yesterday in the house It is the New York state law and has been approved by the United States supreme court after appeal It is considered a useful law in that state by such men as Ex Governor Dix, Judge North Davis and W F Dodge while the democratic members did not know what to say to it One of the opposition, a young man named Livesay, of Gilpin made quite an exhibition of himself He appears to be a very good young man, but has immoderate conceit united with very limited knowledge He commenced his speech in a very pompous way with a remark about human nature in all ages and all climes &c This led one of the pages to remark to the representatives of the press at their table, He is a regular Henry Clay isn't he But after all his speech was a pleasant variation from the regular proceedings There are times when one can enjoy a stump speech after the Artemus Ward or Nasby style and this one was as illiterate absurd and silly as any of the productions of these literary clowns Judge Douglas Southworth, of Arapahoe Bush of Weld and Mann of Jefferson, fought bravely for the bill but without success It is still possible that Chilcott's amendment may be adopted and the bill pass the house The amendment simply limits the responsibility to the sale of liquor to a man who is a common drunkard

Ivory Phillips sheep inspectors bill has passed the house As the bill has been materially amended and the subject is of such great importance we print the bill as it passed

AN ACT TO AMEND AN ACT ENTITLED AN ACT TO PROVIDE FOR THE APPOINTMENT OF SHEEP INSPECTORS

Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Colorado

SECTION 1 Strike out section 2 and insert in lieu thereof the following words for section 2 It shall be the duty of the sheep inspector, whenever he has knowledge or information that any sheep within his jurisdiction have the scab or any other malignant contagious disease to inspect said flock and report in writing the result of his inspection to the county clerk of his county to be filed by him for reference for the county commissioners or any parties concerned, and if so diseased once every two weeks thereafter to reinspect said flock and report in writing the result and treatment if any, in the same manner until said disease is reported cured Provided that in case of the removal of the flock six miles from the range of any other sheep as hereafter provided he shall only make one inspection every three months

SEC 2 Strike out section three and insert in lieu thereof the following words for section three And upon the arrival of any flock of sheep into the state, the owner or agent shall immediately report them to the inspector of the county for inspection and the inspector shall inspect and report as provided in section two, and, in case of failure from any cause of owner or agent to report for inspection a fine of three hundred dollars shall be imposed on said owner or agent for each offence by any court of competent jurisdiction which fine when collected shall be paid into the county treasury for the use of the sheep inspectors fund and any judgment for such fine shall be a lien upon said flock

SEC 3 Strike out section nine and insert in lieu thereof the following words for section nine. The inspector shall receive for his services four dollars per day while necessarily employed in inspecting and for the first inspection an additional fee of one half cent for every sheep when the flock inspected is five hundred or less and for inspecting larger flocks two dollars and fifty cents for the first five hundred and one fourth cent each for the remainder of said flock to be paid by the owner or his agent and two cents per line of ten words for any other special copies Provided if any person shall keep several separate flocks of sheep and some flock or flocks be not infected with scab the owner shall be required to pay only the fees for inspection of such infected flock or flocks Provided that when an inspection is made and the result shall show no disease, the inspector shall give the owner a written statement to that effect and shall be paid for such inspection as provided in section fifteen The inspector shall receive ten per cent of all fines and penalties in cases in which he gives information of the offence and his interest in the result shall not effect his competency to try such fines and penalties except as herein provided shall be paid to the county treasurer as part of the sheep inspection fund of the county

SEC 4 Strike out section 11 and insert in lieu thereof the following words for section 11

It shall be the duty of the inspector between the 10th day of August and the 10th day of December in each year to visit each flock of sheep within the county and make a written report of their condition as to scab, or other malignant contagious disease and when he reports such disease shall be paid for the same as provided in section 9 and when he reports in substance no disease shall be paid for the same as provided in section 15

SEC 5 Strike out section 12 and insert in lieu thereof the following words for section 12

Whenever a sheep inspector shall wilfully and falsely report any sheep subject to disease, he shall be subjected to a fine of ten times the amount of the fees charged by him for the inspection and if he shall wilfully and falsely report any sheep inspected by him free from disease that are thus infected he shall be subjected to a penalty not exceeding three hundred dollars for each offense

SEC 6 If any sheep inspector shall be found guilty of either of the offenses set forth in section twelve on information or complaint in writing by any three wool growers of the county the court, commissioners after allowing the inspector a fair hearing shall be of opinion that he is incompetent to discharge intelligently and efficiently the duties of his office or that having sufficient knowledge or information he has for any cause wilfully or negligently failed to make the required inspections or that he has needlessly made inspections for the purpose of securing the fees or that his reports have been influenced by favor or prejudice or from any cause he has failed in the proper discharge of the duties of his office it shall be the duty of said commissioners to declare said inspectors office vacant, and to make a new appointment

Governor Pitkin is experiencing no little trouble in satisfying the claims of the different counties for the few appointments at his disposal The applicants for the position of adjutant general are now limited to four Colonel Dormer of the Register Call, Frank Hall of the Times A J Dill recently of the Trinidad Enterprise-Chronicle and the present occupant Mr Roe The strife for positions which possess neither dignity nor profit is astonishing

Yesterday we had the pleasure of meeting O M Rothacker the new managing editor of the Tribune He is a very young man but has had a large experience for eight years a journalist. He comes here from Louisville where he has been editor and part proprietor of the most successful Sunday paper in the city He had an extensive experience on New York papers before going to Louisville Henry Watterson, of the Courier Journal spoke of him as one of the most brilliant writers on the press in the west His present position is as useful and influential as that of any man on the press outside of St Louis and west of the Mississippi and those who know him say he is worthy of it We have not doubt but that he will prove a great acquisition to the profession in the state He is an extremely courteous pleasant gentleman in socially and can't help being popular

J S Wolf, esq., is making extensive improvements in the internal revenue office which he takes possession of to morrow

Hymn.

BY REV WASHINGTON GLADDEN

Lord, I believe in Thee,
In want, in pain, in grief,
I trust Thee where I can not see,
Help Thou my unbelief!

Thy law is in my heart,
With that I follow Thee,
If sin still rules the worser part,
Be merciful to me!

I trust my brother, too,
In him, though lost, I find
Some spark Thy breath may yet renew;
For Thou to him art kind.

All that are Thine are mine;
To save them Thou didst come,
Live in my life, O Love divine,
Then I, too, may save some

OLD TUNNELING PETE

Story of a Life Passed Mostly Underground.

Old "Tunneling Pete" was what he was always called, and if he had any other name it was never heard on the Pacific coast It is said that he was from the lead mines of Galena, Illinois, where they to this day, tell how he burrowed his way through the limestone, from cave to cave, in search for "mineral," making the cave last found his abiding place. Even in those days he was nearly always underground How he managed to endure the light of day long enough to cross the plains has always been a mystery to those who knew him. Some assert that he traveled only during the night, and others that he wore a huge pair of goggles of black glass. Old Pete landed in California in 1849, and as soon as he struck the golden soil took pick and shovel, and went out of sight beneath it During the ten years he lained in California he was under the ground most of the time, only coming out to the light of day at night, as a son of Erin would say. Old Pete was a regular ground mole, and like that little animal, appeared to hate the light of the sun, which kept him winking and blinking, even when his eyes were half closed, as they always were when he was on the surface. In California old Pete mined the gravel banks Mexican fashion, running coyote holes in them till they were a greater puzzle than was the famed labyrinth of Crete. What he did with the gold he found no one ever knew, as he was never seen to have any in his possession, nor was he ever seen to purchase either food or drink. It was the, same in the lead mines, and a story came from Galena that he was not a human being, but a gnome in disgrace in some shape with the beings of his race. He was seen here on the Comstock soon after silver was found, but straightway disappeared underground No one saw him on his way hither or knew he was coming, the first intimation had of his migration was when he was seen here. There were those among the prospectors of that day who swore that old Pete had merely extended one of his California holes and so "come square through the Sierra Nevada mountains It is reported that after the day of his arrival he was not seen for over two years, when he finally came out near where the town of Sutro now stands some now say that Mr. Sutro followed in on "old Pete's hole" when he dug his tunnel, otherwise he could never have found his way to the Comstock The story goes that when old Pete's head popped out through the ground, down by the verge of the valley, it was daylight, and when he saw the cottonwood trees along the Carson river he is said to have been in a terrible rage, as he had supposed he was deep enough to pass under the channel of the Carson and get beneath the big peaks of Como. All day he sat winking and blinking and cursing and swearing in the mouth of his hole—for old Pete was fearfully wicked—and at night he gathered up his drifting-bar, pick, and shovel, and crossed over the hills to Flowery District, where he set to work, and was out of sight under the base of a big hill long before morning. He was seen on the surface, in the twilight and of moonlight nights, two or three times each year by the miners of Flowery until about three years ago, when he seemed to have disappeared for good. No one cared much whither he had gone, for he was an unsightly old man and exceedingly snappish and disagreeable One morning about six months ago some Indians rushed into the village of Flowery in a terrible fright, saying the "devil" had appeared in their camp. A few miners went with the Indians and found old Pete sitting in the middle of their ranchemia beside a big hole, through which it was evident he had just risen. The old man's eyes were glassy and his gray hairs were matted with clay, like those of a badger just dragging from his hole, and it was easy to see that he was on his last legs. He said he had come to the surface to get a mouthful of fresh air in order that he might have strength to die. He had just life enough left to say that he had been away up under the roots of the Comstock during the past three years; and had there seen more wealth than Fair, Mackey, or any mining millionaire of them all had ever dreamed of. "They will never find it, though," chuckled he; "they will never find it! They will never go down to where it is. They will become discouraged far above, up among the twisting clays and cross-courses, and faults and great horses of porphyry I must die now, but none of them will ever find what I have seen no, never!" So saying, the old fellow suddenly pressed his hands to his breast, a rattling came from his throat, he fell back upon the ground, gasped, and clutched the gravel with his bony fingers, a tremor passed through his frame, he straightened out, and was dead Virginia City Enterprise.

THE INTER OCEAN.

Weekly, $1.15; Semi-Weekly, $2.50; Daily, $10.00

THE INTER OCEAN, as a political journal, stands confessedly at the head of the Republican press of the West, and as a readable and reliable newspaper has a reputation second to none. While it has never wavered in the support of party principles, has never failed to do its full duty in critical times, and has never hesitated to strike hard blows in defense of the Republican cause it has never ceased to be a good newspaper, independent of all political and party considerations

With the record of seven years' conscientious work and efficient service behind it as a certificate of character, THE INTER OCEAN enters upon the work of a new year, enters upon the work of a new year the most important, perhaps, in its history, and the most momentous in the history of the Republican party. Lines are already forming for the great battle of 1880, and the country has never felt the need of staunch and able supporters of principle for the sake of principle as it will in the coming year. It has been the good fortune of THE INTER OCEAN to lead in the formation of public opinion, and to have a tremendous following It has maintained the position as leader because of its unquestioned loyalty to the fundamental principles of the party, its boldness in defending them, and its fairness in discussing great political questions As THE INTER OCEAN has sounded the key-note of the contests in past years, Republicans will look to it as a faithful guide and leader in the coming year And they will not be disappointed The paper will stand, as it always has stood, the organ of no faction or clique, battling in the front rank for the principles that have made the country what it is.

THE INTER OCEAN expects to receive from enemies and opponents hard blows, and to return them with interest. From Republicans and friends it expects only such consideration and fairness as any political journal may claim at the hands of those interested in the success of the party and in the triumph of party principles. The issues are sharply defined On the one side is the solid South aided by the Democratic party, on the other the Republican party! Naturally at such a time Republicans will turn to a paper able, aggressive, and of unquestioned loyalty All that we ask is that they judge THE INTER OCEAN by its own utterances, and not by what Democratic organs and envious rivals say of it.

Outside of party considerations Republicans will choose the best newspaper And in this particular THE INTER OCEAN has no superiors. It is in every sense of the word a national newspaper, presenting home and foreign news in attractive shape, and accompanying it with intelligent comment.

It will be as enterprising as any of its contemporaries, more accurate and more discriminating. For two years its cable dispatches have been fuller and of higher character than those of any other Western journal; its Washington and foreign correspondence more readable, covering more topics of special and general interest, and its home correspondence more varied and more complete. All these departments will be continued, with such improvements added as experience may suggest and increased facilities for collecting news allow

Independent of politics and news, men want a symmetrical, interesting, and wholesome journal for the family and home. They will find such a paper in THE INTER OCEAN, which devotes more attention than any other political newspaper to departments prepared and conducted with the wants of home and family in view. This applies to Agricultural, Domestic, Educational, Scientific, and Social matters.

The Curiosity Shop, covering answers to all sorts of political, scientific, and general questions, will receive more attention, even, than in past years, and will be a complete encyclopedia of information not accessible outside the great reference libraries of large cities. In this department THE INTER OCEAN has been without a rival, and, realizing the importance of the department, the publishers have made arrangements not only to maintain its high character, but to make it answer more completely the demands of subscribers.

The Home Department has within the past year assumed a new character and a new importance. It is the outgrowth of THE INTER OCEAN policy of fostering home interests, and, while it is unique in its freshness and its plan, it is unequalled in its interest and in the amount of suggestive and practical information on home topics.

The Agricultural Department will be in charge of one of the most experienced agricultural editors in the west, and will give each week timely hints, suggestions, and discussions of practical interest.

The Veterinary Department has become a standard authority among horsemen, and is republished from week to week in many of the Farm and Stock Journals of the country. All questions of subscribers as to diseases and treatment of stock are answered without charge by a distinguished and experienced specialist. This department will be maintained at its present high standard.

The Woman's Kingdom, devoted to woman's interests and work, will be continued in the generous and conservative spirit that has made it so popular.

The Commercial Department has had a reputation for reliability and completeness all its own. It will remain in charge of the same editor, and will be made up with the wants of the readers in view.

In Fiction THE INTER OCEAN will present a serial by a popular western author, covering ground in the west not touched upon hitherto by writers of fiction, and replete with incident and adventure. In short stories, sketches, and general literary miscellany THE INTER OCEAN will pander to no low taste, but will give the best.

In these times of depression and scarcity of money, people will turn to the paper that is the cheapest. To meet this demand the price of The Inter Ocean has been reduced $1.15 for the Weekly, $2 50 for the Semi Weekly, and $10 for the Daily In short, the Inter Ocean will be a better paper than ever before, and will be furnished for less money.

THE LEADING AMERICAN NEWSPAPER

THE NEW YORK TRIBUNE.

For 1879 the Tribune hopes to commence with increasing success, the work and the methods which through the year now ending have won such popular approval and such ample fruit

The Tribune is now spending more labor and money than ever before to deserve the distinction it has long enjoyed of the largest circulation among the best people. It is the only newspaper in the country containing a special telegraphic wire of its own between its office and the national capital Its Washington despatches are such as will be found nowhere published Its Albany correspondent, George W Smalley, is recognized as the foremost political field on the American press Its other foreign correspondence ranks exceptionally high Its scientific, religious and literary intelligence is often fuller and generally more newsy than that furnished by journals expressly devoted to these specialties. Its critical departments, all conducted by the old heads, remain the acknowledged authorities

THE SEMI-WEEKLY TRIBUNE

Is specially adapted to the large class of intelligent readers too far from New York to depend on its papers for the daily news, who nevertheless want the editorials, correspondence, book reviews, scientific matter, literature, literary miscellany, etc., for which the Tribune is famous. This is the cheapest, and, for remote country readers, the best edition of the Tribune published It contains sixteen pages and is in convenient form for binding Its far the most successful semi weekly in the country—having four times the circulation of any other in New York

THE WEEKLY TRIBUNE

Remains the great favorite for our substantial country population A high authority has said of it that The Weekly Tribune has done more to make good farmers and good citizens than any other single influence that has ever existed in this country It is now larger than any of its rivals its new form sixteen pages, carefully indexed and suitable for binding), has proved exceedingly popular, and its large, clear type, so different from that of most papers of its class is a special attraction. Its agricultural department, under the special management of an experienced agricultural editor, with a staff of several assistants, and a large corps of special contributors is more carefully conducted than ever, and it has always been considered the best its market reports are the world standard for the Dairymen's Association, and have long been the recognized authority on cattle, grain and general country produce There are special departments for the young, and for housekeepers, stories, wide poetry, fiction and the humors of the day are all adequately supplied During the ensuing year there may also be expected, among many other features: (1) Some Personal Reminiscences of Early Anti-Slavery Work, by Oliver Johnson. (2) Further Contributions on Southern Agriculture, by Solon Robinson. (3) Occasional Papers on Current Topics, by the Rev John Hall, D D. (4) Occasional Contributions by Cyrus Hamlin, and other attractive matter from writers of equal note

NO RIVALS TO COMPARE IT WITH

Both Weekly and Semi-Weekly Tribune are now entirely unlike the corresponding issues from any other daily office in New York—wholly different in form and appearance, with large type, and only comparable to the three and four dollar religious or literary journals The price, however, is so far below theirs as to defy competition, and the premiums are more valuable and substantial than have ever been offered by other newspapers.

THE COLORADO RAILROADS

Important Negotiations Pending Between the Atchison Topeka and Santa Fe and Denver and Rio Grande Railroad Companies

For some time past important negotiations have been proceeding, between the Atchison Topeka and Santa Fe railroad and the Denver and Rio Grande railroad companies in regard to the control of the Denver South Park and Pacific railroad The first named company on December 28 1878 entered into an agreement with the Denver and South Park Railroad and Construction company and the Denver South Park and Pacific railroad by which it obtained practical possession of the latter road The agreement was subject to the ratification of the bond holders of the Denver and Rio Grande railroad company represented by the assignee of the lease of the road to the Atchison Topeka and Santa Fe company The question of the ownership of the South Park and Pacific road is a very important one to the Denver and Rio Grande bondholders and Mr I H Meyer the assignee has as it is said stood declined to give his assent without some protecting concession being granted to the bondholders A formal demand for the guarantee of the bonded debt principal and interest of the Denver and Rio Grande Company by the Atchison Topeka and Santa Fe railroad company was refused last week by the latter corporation, but it is confidently anticipated by the representatives of the Denver and Rio Grande interest that eventually the guarantee will be given

The contract above mentioned provides for the purchase by the Atchison Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad company from the Denver and South Park Railroad and Construction company which has charge of the affairs of the Denver South Park and Pacific railroad at par and accrued interest of $700 000 of the 7 percent gold first mortgage bond of the last named road The purchase moneys to be deposited with the Farmers Loan and Trust company of this city and to be applied first to all the outstanding indebtedness of the construction company and second to complete the construction and equipment of the Denver South Park and Pacific railroad The Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe company receives $700 000 of the capital stock of the Denver, South

[illegible] Ten cents per line for first insertion five cents per line for each subsequent insertion Advertisements to go in every other day or certain days The week only ten cents per inch for each insertion

[illegible] the construction of the South Park railroad $2 500 000 first mortgage bonds of the company are to be deposited to the Atchison company and Farmers Loan and Trust company The contract also provides that whenever the Pueblo and Arkansas Valley railroad (which practically is part of the Atchison Topeka and Santa Fe road) shall be extended from its point of intersection with the Denver South Park and Pacific road near Trout creek on the Arkansas river to Leadville or any points beyond that place the South Park company shall have the right of joint trackage over the extension upon the payment of a monthly rental of eight per cent per annum on one half of the actual cash outlays of the construction of the track so far as used The right of joint use of track upon the same terms over the extensions constructed by the Denver South Park and Pacific company connecting with the Pueblo and Arkansas Valley road is also confirmed to the Atchison Topeka and Santa Fe company All extensions to the San Juan mining region by either the South Park or the Pueblo and Arkansas Valley company are also to be subject to the same provisions of the agreement which are to be perpetual The tracks thus used in common are to be kept in repair at the joint expense of the two contracting companies according to the traffic of each company upon the tracks so jointly used

The contract also provides that uniform rates shall be established for all competitive business west of Denver and Pueblo to be fixed by mutual agreement The receipts from all competitive business west of these places are to be pooled upon the following basis After deducting and reserving to each railroad company 50 per cent of its respective receipts accruing by reason of such business the remainder is to be pooled and divided monthly share and share alike and any differences due from the one road to the other from any and every month s receipts is to be accounted for and paid over within thirty days after the end of each month The pooling arrangement is to continue in force for twenty five years from the date of the agreement In conclusion it is stipulated that both the Pueblo and Arkansas Valley and the Denver South Park and Pacific railroads shall be completed and equipped to the point of their junction near Trout Creek on or before July 10 1879

A gentleman well informed as to all the facts of the present negotiations which have heretofore been carefully kept private said to an American Exchange reporter on Saturday To fully understand the position of the Denver and Rio Grande company in this matter, it is necessary to examine the position and relation of the several Colorado railroads The Denver and Rio Grande road runs from Denver south to El Moro and Trinidad with one branch projected from Pueblo to Ore City in the Leadville mining district completed as far west as Cañon City and another, projected from Salida to Silverton in the San Juan mining district built to Alamosa The Denver South Park and Pacific road is controlled westerly from Denver, a distance of sixty nine miles it is to be built to the Arkansas river, near Trout creek and thence to Silverton The Atchison Topeka and Santa Fe road is finished from La Junta Colorado to Pueblo from which place the Pueblo and Arkansas Valley railroad is projected to Leadville to follow a route parallel with the Denver and Rio Grande Leadville branch The Atchison Topeka and Santa Fe company when its line to Albuquerque is built will flank the Denver and Rio Grande on the south and with the Pueblo and Arkansas Valley road in its interest should it obtain control of the South Park and Pacific road the Denver and Rio Grande would thus be outflanked on the west An examination of the map of Colorado will show how the Atchison company could divert a large amount of traffic from the Denver and Rio Grande road unless the latter was secured by some guarantee from such a proceeding The best and simplest protection is the guarantee of its bonds and that will be insisted upon before consent will be given to the agreement made by the Atchison company with the Denver and South Park interest

In regard to the probability of the Atchison company assenting to the demand of the Denver and Rio Grande s representative the same gentleman said that he considered it only a question of time He understood that the company was already committed to its agreement with the Denver and South Park construction and railroad companies in a way which would make a withdrawal disadvantageous If the Denver and Rio Grande company be continued as successful in the litigation concerning the right of way through the Grand Canon of the Arkansas Valley, the Atchison company will be completely shut out of the Leadville district and will eventually accede to the terms of the former company He regarded as almost certain that the decision of the United States court will be against the Atchison company all of its recent decisions in railroad cases confirm the position taken by the Denver and Rio Grande company That company was organized October 27 1870 under the laws of the then Territory of Colorado Its privileges were subsequently confirmed by act of congress June 8 1872 which gave the company right of way 200 feet wide over all public lands of the United States along its route The Pueblo and Arkansas Valley company claims access to the Grand Canon through which its road must go in order to reach Leadville under an act of congress passed March 3 79 which provided that no railroad shall possess right of way in any canon or pass to the exclusion of any other railroad company The last decision of the United States supreme court made in the case of the Denver South Park and Pacific railroad company against the Kansas Pacific railroad company confirmed important points in that the rights of contesting claimants to disputed tracks be determined by the date of their respective grants and not by the date of the location of the route of their respective roads —American Exchange January 24 1879

To morrow is the anniversary of the birth of Horace Greeley he having been born February 3, 1811
